Palo Alto, CA – December 22nd, 2008 – The Radicati Group, Inc. has released a new market brief on the Data Loss Prevention (DLP) Market, which analyzes the market’s highly competitive landscape.

Radicati Market Quadrants rank vendors based on a four quadrant system, which includes “Mature Players,” “Specialists,” “Trail Blazers,” and “Top Players” quadrants. Leading players in each market segment are ranked based on the features and functionality of their solution and their market share in that segment. Radicati Market Quadrants provide a comparative viewpoint of the market, and an analysis of each vendor included in the study, with both strengths and weaknesses.

The Radicati Group, Inc. segments the compliance market into two segments: eDiscovery and Data Loss Prevention (DLP). This study focuses only on the Data Loss Prevention segment. DLP solutions offer advanced data supervision products and services that enable companies to prevent non-compliant messages from reaching their recipients. Most of these solutions are deployed by companies operating in high-risk environments, protecting them from potential lawsuits stemming from loss of sensitive information.

Companies evaluated in the report include Autonomy, Clearswift, LiveOffice, Microsoft, McAfee, Orchestra, Sophos, Symantec, and Websense.
