Palo Alto, CA – August 4, 2008 – A new study showing market size, market share, and four-year forecasts (2008 - 2012) for all core market segments tracked by The Radicati Group, Inc. is now available.

The number of worldwide email users is projected to increase from 1.3 billion in 2008 to almost 1.8 billion by 2012. Worldwide email traffic will total 210 billion messages per day in 2008. By 2012, this figure will almost double to 419 billion messages per day. In 2008, 63% of all traffic will be consumer, and 37% will be corporate email messages.

The Email Security market continues to grow, helping companies to shield their networks from spam, viruses, and other types of malware. These solutions can be deployed in three form factors: software, appliances, and hosted services. The installed base of the Email Security Market for all segments is expected to increase from 1.1 billion in 2008, to 2.8 billion in 2012, while revenue is expected to increase from $3.9 billion in 2008, to $6.2 billion in 2012.
